His First Hiccups

25 seconds | 5 activities | Real phone-video look | 9:16 Reel

VIDEO IDEA

The first time I ever saw him get hiccups: jumping on the rug, confused head tilts, a drink of water, more hiccups while sitting and finally a big stretch when they stop.

TIMELINE

0-5s	First hiccup
5-10s	Confused tilts
10-15s	Water break
15-20s	Still hiccuping
20-25s	All better

FULL 25-SECOND PROMPT (only if your tool can make 25s in one go)

A 25-second shot on an iPhone held by the owner, vertical 9:16, 1x lens, handheld with small natural shakes, auto-exposure and autofocus, real-time speed with no slow motion, available natural light only, no color grading, ordinary lived-in home, normal phone video quality - looks like an unedited home video posted on Facebook. The dog is a real adult male German Shepherd with a black saddle, tan legs and tan face, slightly darker muzzle, upright ears, wearing a worn brown leather collar with a small metal tag, natural slightly messy coat with a little loose fur on the shoulders. It shows 5 short everyday moments joined with simple hard cuts. 0-5s (First hiccup): Living room, quiet afternoon, soft daylight through the window, a beige carpet and a brown couch. The dog lies on its belly on the carpet. Suddenly its whole body jerks with a small hiccup. It lifts its head in surprise, then another hiccup makes its chest jump. Sound: a tiny hic sound, owner whispering "did you just hiccup?". 5-10s (Confused tilts): Same living room, afternoon daylight, beige carpet. The dog sits up. With each hiccup its body jerks slightly and it turns its head to look at its own side, then tilts its head at the owner as if asking what is happening. Sound: small hics, a puzzled huff, owner laughing softly. 10-15s (Water break): Kitchen, afternoon daylight from the back door window, grey tile floor, a steel water bowl on a mat. The owner taps the bowl. The dog walks over and drinks with loud laps, pauses mid-drink with another hiccup that makes water drip off its chin, then keeps drinking until the bowl is half empty. Sound: lapping, a hic, dripping water, owner saying "drink it up". 15-20s (Still hiccuping): Kitchen doorway, afternoon daylight, grey tile meeting wood floor. The dog sits facing the owner, water still dripping from its chin, and hiccups twice more, each one making its shoulders hop slightly. It blinks, licks its lips and looks up at the owner with a puzzled face. Sound: two small hics, owner giggling "poor buddy". 20-25s (All better): Living room, late afternoon daylight, beige carpet. The hiccups have stopped. The dog stretches long with its front legs forward, gives a big yawn, then flops onto its side on the carpet with a sigh, eyes closing as the owner pats its chest. Sound: a squeaky yawn, a thump on the carpet, owner saying "all better".

AVOID / NEGATIVE PROMPT (paste into the negative box, or add "Avoid: ..." at the end) cinematic, slow motion, lens flare, golden glow, dramatic lighting, studio lighting, color grading, film look, perfect shiny fur, glowing eyes, human-like facial expressions, smooth drone or gimbal movement, background music, text, subtitles, watermark, extra legs, extra tail, morphing, warped paws, plastic-looking skin or fur

CLIP-BY-CLIP PROMPTS (recommended)

Make each clip separately, then join them in order. Every prompt already includes the same dog and camera wording.

I didn't even know dogs could get hiccups.
He was so confused.

HOW TO MAKE IT LOOK REAL

Use a real photo	Biggest realism boost: use Image-to-Video and upload the same real German Shepherd photo for every clip. Same photo = same dog in all 5 clips.
Make 5 short clips	Generate each clip (5 seconds) separately with its own prompt, then join them in CapCut with simple hard cuts. If your tool can make 25 seconds at once, use the full 25s prompt instead.
Pick the most natural	Generate 2-3 versions of each clip and keep the one where the dog moves most naturally. Delete any clip with weird legs, tail or face.
Keep the real sound	Keep the natural sounds (paws, tags, panting, owner's voice). If you add a trending Facebook sound, keep it quiet underneath.
No filters	Do not add filters, slow motion or fancy transitions - real home videos don't have them.
